CIRCUIT COURT.

Probably That Other Week Will Not Be Needed to Close Up.

Things are drawing to a close in Circuit Court. No more criminal cases are to be tried the present term and there are no civil cases of public interest to be disposed of.

Frank Allen, the negro indicted on the charge of stealing hams from Clark & Denton, was admitted to bail in the sum of $100 Tuesday.

The time of the court yesterday was all consumed in the case of Nina Anglin, a colored school teacher of Lafayette, who had been ousted by the trustees. She brought suit against the superintendent and trustees to enjoin them from interfering with her in the prosecution of her work. The case is one of interest to the colored population. The court will render judgment some time soon.

The indications point to adjournment this week, as the docket is pretty well disposed of, though the first few days of the coming week may be necessary to clean up.

Lamp Overturned.

Ada Irwin, a colored woman who lives on the Princeton road, was severely burned Saturday night by the overturning of a lamp. Her burns were at first thought to be fatal.

EWING TO THE PRIZERS

Instructions in Regard to the Handling of Tobacco.

SCHEDULE OF PRICES.

Association Members Cautious About the Pricing of Crop.

Glenraven, Tenn., Oct. 24.-Now, that the new season's work is almost at hand, it is important that we weigh well the matter of prizers, warehousemen and the work of each. The Executive Committee have more positive instructions this year to give contracts to those prizers only, who grade properly in our inspector's report. It is not a matter to be considered from any standpoint save that of business, and the man who is most competent.

There is no doubt that the work of the prizer affects the price of tobacco, to a greater extent than anything else. Even the poorest quality will improve if well handled, and the best wrapper will decrease in value, if the prizer does not know his business. This year the county chairman and the whole management of the association will work together to secure the most competent men for this work.

Contracts are now being made with warehousemen, and while we have not heard from all counties we know that Smith & Williams, Kendrick & Runyon, Casey & Co., of Clarksville, and Woodridge & Co., of Hopkinsville, have signed. There will be others all over the Black Patch, but I want to warn our members of the danger of patronizing our bonded storage houses. Be sure that you borrow money only from those who are bonded association houses, thus giving yourself double protection. Within the next few weeks our schedule of prices will be completely overhauled, our committee making such changes as the two years of experience teaches us is quite necessary. This time it will be made upon a thoroughly systematic basis, each special tobacco priced according to its relative value.

F. C. EWING, Gen. Man'gr.

FIRE ALARM.

Residence of J. O. Cushman Slightly Damaged.

At noon last Tuesday the residence of Mr. J. O. Cushman, on South Walnut street, was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was promptly turned in, but when the department arrived the fire had been about put out.

The roof was burning at a pretty good rate when some one passing saw it, but as to how it caught is not known, as there was no chimney near where the fire originated. The fire department did some good work with buckets, as Mr. Cushman did not want the hose used if possible to do without it. Most of the furniture had been taken out by the crowd, as the destruction of the house seemed probable at one time.

A Suggestion for Prankish Boys for Next Week.

November 1st is All Saints Day, just a week from to-day. Wednesday is Hallow-E'en. That night the mischievous boys will be out for fun. Doubtless, they have already begun planning what they are to do. We suggest to them that, as the stock law is in force and many front fences have already been torn down and others are soon to be, that when they find a gate that can be lifted from its hinges, they make a complete job of it and take the fence as well as the gate.

A Tunnel to the Clouds and Perpetual Snows

Ride up the Jungfrau Railroad in the Alps Full of Thrilling Interest

The Jungfrau railway in Switzerland betrays its interest for a discerning mind, and now at the height of the Swiss season hundreds of tourists are able to enjoy heretic mountain scenery amidst the peaks of the Alps which were impossible before the Jungfrau was opened just a year ago. The new station at Kimmel, 10,000 feet above sea-level, is able to boast the highest railroad station in Europe and the highest tunnel station in the world.

The projector of this remarkable mountain tunnel and railway, Herr Guyer-Zeller, of Zurich, was not an engineer, but a financier. The story goes that he was strolling down the mountain path that leads from the Schilthorn to Murren, and that in course of it, with the Jungfrau steadily in front of him, the inspiration came to scale it with a railway. Several years elapsed before the bold idea took a concrete shape. All sorts of objections and scruples were raised. Herr Zeller had first to satisfy the Swiss authorities that no evil consequences would ensue to passengers by being carried 6,000 feet upwards in a eventually to be six miles long, and for most of the distance runs very near one or other of the outer faces of the mountains. The tunnel stations are formed by one or more galleries, built out of rock, and give a far view of mountain and valley, snow and glacier. The line continues along the great wall northwest of the Eiger until well underneath the Mitterteufel glacier. There are two stations in the magnificent Eiger precipices. The first is Rothstock, (8,500 feet). Rothstock is less than a couple of miles from the rail-head, and it is an easy walk from here to the bold crag of the Eiger Rothstock (8,754 feet), which commands a magnificent panorama of the Eiger, the Monch, and the Jungfrau, and a distant one of the Jura chain. From the next station three openings have been cut through to the face of the mountain, to obtain a thrilling view of the Grindelwald valley far below, and a wide-sweeping panorama extending as far as the Black Forest and the Vosges. From Grindelwald, looking upwards with a telescope, one can just locate the three tiny-looking holes in the great couple of hours. Then there was the aesthetic objection that the mountain scenery would be disfigured; but this was set at rest by the promise to run the railway in tunnels all the way, and hide even the stations away inside the mountains. At last Herr Zeller secured his concession, on December 21, 1894, it stipulated, among other things, that persons climbing to the summit on foot should have free access to all parts of it; and that the company should spend 100,000 francs on a permanent observatory at the Jungfrau station, for meteorological, tectural and other physical researches, and contribute an extra thousand francs a month towards its expenses. At last, also, the great financial problem was solved, and the works were begun in 1897.

THE EISMEER STATION, 10,042 FEET ABOVE SEA-LEVEL.

surveying the pretty town of Murren far below. And this is one of the chief features of the line, this new and startling point of view at every stopping-place. Each station unfolds a new panorama; and opens up to the scientist and the nature-lover a fresh field of work and interest. And it ever, as it is possible, the summits of the Eiger and the Monch are pierced by means of lifts spreading there from the line, the startling effect will be more pronounced than ever. About a quarter of a mile above Elgeward station, the line curves towards the north, and enters the great tunnel, which now penetrates as far as Kimmel, and continues to the Jungfrau plateau station. This tunnel is wall of rock, 6,000 feet above; but when darkness falls, the station at once catches the eye, for the three recesses are brilliantly illuminated, and the beams of a powerful electric searchlight, fixed in one of them, sweep high across the valley. It looks like a lighthouse or outpost of triumph in a region of unearthly mystery and danger.

Beyond, the line describes a great curve, and after traversing the limestone layers which form the Elgeward passes towards the southeast slope of the mountain, and then turns towards the Eiger ridge, whence it runs in nearly a straight line up the Jungfrau. Under the Eiger ridge, in the grand and imposing Viescherwand, lies the new Eismeer station, at an altitude of 10,042 feet, and a distance from Scheldeng of three miles. By this time we are well above the line of perpetual snow and ice, and the tourist looks out time under surroundings of the most magnificent character. We are surrounded, in fact, by a sea of ice, as the name implies. It is a sheer drop of 150 feet from the glacier to the ice-field, and the descent can be made by a rope-ladder. From here the view embraces the deeply creased Grindelwald Pleistocene glacier (in the making), the Bergli Hut, the whole chain of the Schreckhorn, and the desolate stretches of ice and snow that lie between the last-named and the Eiger. Thence, running deep under the large slope of the ridge, the line takes the direction of the Monch, and passes vertically under the summit towards the Upper Monchloch. Continuing in the same direction, it dips towards the Jungfraujoch, and reaches the fifth intermediate station, which stands at an altitude of 11,142 feet.

The construction of the line has so far been a slow and laborious undertaking, chiefly owing to the intense hardness of the limestone and gneiss through which the great tunnel is being driven, and the only compensation is the fact that it requires no lining of brick or masonry.

The dimensions of the tunnel are 14 feet in height by 12 feet in breadth. The first section of the line, to Elgeward, was opened for traffic in the summer of 1898, a year after commencement; the fourth, from Elgeward to Kimmel, in August, 1905; and it is now as far as the last-named and the Eiger. Thence, running deep under the large slope of the ridge, the line takes the direction of the Monch, and passes vertically under the summit towards the Upper Monchloch. Continuing in the same direction, it dips towards the Jungfraujoch, and reaches the fifth intermediate station, which stands at an altitude of 11,142 feet.

Learn the Truth.
The one medicine for the cure of all the peculiar weaknesses and ailments, the ingredients of which are printed on the wrapper of every bottle leaving the great Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., where it is made is called DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.

It Stands Alone not only in respect to its ingredients, but also as the only specific advertised for the cure of women's diseases which absolutely contains NO ALCOHOL.

How Nature Provides.

OUR BEAUTY, HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

Is it not possible if not probable that elements necessary for the body-health are contained in the native medicinal roots found in the earth, digested in the plant laboratory of nature and made ready for man or animal?

The medicinal virtues of many American plants and roots were known to the early Indians. This fact was known to modern physicians as Calophyllum or Blue Cohosh was known to the Indians as "Snake root." Another, known to the Indians as "Rattleweed root," is used in modern medicine as "Cimicifuga." Prof. King's American Dispensary, an authority in these matters, says: "Our Indians set a high value on Rattleweed root (Black Cohosh) in diseases of women. It is surpassed by no other drug in congestive conditions of the parts where there are dangerous pains and tendernesses."

After many years of study and experiment Dr. Pierce, the medical director of the Invalid Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., put in a prescription of his own, containing the non-alcoholic, glyceric extracts of the two above mentioned ingredients, together with Golden Seal root, Lady's Slipper root and Unicorn root. This, there is no mystery in the quality of this famous "Prescription." The use of alcohol is

It Stands Alone as the one medicine for the cure of women, the makers of which take their patients fully into their confidence and tell them exactly what they are making. This Dr. Pierce can afford to do, because his "Favorable Prescription" is made of such ingredients and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit placing its merits above criticism.

It Stands Alone as Nature's cure for the diseases peculiar to women because the earth supplies the vegetable ingredients. Mrs. Mary J. Beard (Trained Nurse, Washington Hospital, of 1705 10th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I felt badly for four years, had terrible pains at times and was often unable to do about attending to my household duties. My system was poor and sleep almost entirely gone. I finally my attention was called to Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and decided to try it. An amazingly glad that I did for I began to improve with the first bottle, and gradually became better until I was entirely cured of the old trouble. Am well and can enjoy life once more."

Dr. Pierce's Good temper is largely a matter of good health, and good health is largely a matter of healthy activity of the bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are safe, sure and speedy, and once taken do not have to be taken always. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two or mild gripe. By all druggists.

LAST OBSTACLE

To the Primary Election Removed—Now for the Home Stretch.

Circuit Judge John M. Galloway, at Bowling Green Saturday, refused to grant an injunction to restrain the Democratic Executive Committee from holding the primaries to nominate candidates for State offices, and also a candidate for United States Senator. Judge Galloway, in his opinion, which was rendered immediately after the close of argument by the attorneys, held that the abrogation of the rule requiring voters in the primary to disclose how they had voted in the Congressional race removed the only objection which could have been raised to the primary, and that the other grounds on which the Republican attorneys, representing the plaintiff, relied in their suit, are unavailing.

No further action to prevent the holding of the primary on November 6 can be taken.

A Bad Back is Always Worse During Wet or Changeable Weather.

Is your back like a barometer? Does it foretell every change of weather?

Does every cold settle on your kidneys?

Bring aching, throbbing pains? Does it disorder the urine?

The kidneys are calling for help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Guaranteed by Hopkinsville testimony.

C. B. Eades, of the firm of Eades & Davis, proprietors of the coal yard on Seventh street, and the L. & N. R. Co., and who lives at 402 East Seventh street, says: "I saw Doan's Kidney pills advertised and so highly recommended by persons who had used them that I procured a box and gave them a thorough trial. I had suffered for a long time with a heavy pain across the small of my back, sharp and acute at times. When I caught cold it always settled in my back and there followed a weakness of the kidneys which was cured by Doan's Kidney pills. I am pleased to say that they brought me great relief. I have recommended Doan's Kidney pills and will continue to do so to all my friends and acquaintances."

A SUFFERER FROM PILES

N. S. Wilbur, Secretary Louisville Base Ball Club, After Ten Years Suffering, Is Cured by Paracamp.

HAD TRIED MANY REMEDIES

N. S. Wilbur, the popular Secretary of the Louisville Base Ball Club, says:

"I was a sufferer from Chronic Piles for a period of ten years or more, and while I used practically all of the known remedies, I received nothing but temporary relief. One night while traveling my suffering became so intense that in desperation I used Paracamp it being the only preparation that I had with me. I did not think for a moment that I would get relief, but in my condition was willing to try anything. Much to my surprise after the first application my suffering became less. I was able to go to sleep and when I awoke in the morning my pain was all gone. I applied Paracamp two or three times afterwards, not because I experienced any suffering but I feared a return of the pain.

I am glad to state, however, that the trouble has entirely disappeared and I believe myself, for the first time in over ten years cured.

I regard the effect of Paracamp in my case as simply wonderful and would not have believed it possible for a remedy to do what it has done had it not been for my actual experience with the preparation."

Paracamp positively does not contain anything that will injure the most delicate skin. It is a clean, safe, cooling, soothing, application that every one can use every day with pleasing and satisfactory results.

A trial will convince you. So get a bottle of Paracamp to-day from your druggist. We guarantee every bottle to give satisfaction. If it fails to do what we claim, go back to your druggist, the man you know, and get your money.

Sold only in 50c, 25c and $1.00 bottles.—The Paracamp Company, Louisville, Ky., U. S. A.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased part of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is cured by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which can be cured
but an inflamed condition of the Eight special articles, each of actual importance to the American reading public, and nine short stories of the highest quality are contained in the November Everybody's. It is a number that should make a strong appeal to the widest possible variety of American readers. As for the fiction, a glance at the list of authors will indicate the unusual interest of the magazine in that field.

There are stories by Alice Brown,
Herman Whitaker, Eleanor Hollow-
ell Abbott, Justus Miles Forman, Maximilian Foster, Hugh Pendexter,
Sarah N. Cleghorn, and Elizabeth Flint Wade. Such a list proves the presence of romance of the best sort and delightful humor and drama of power.

eat it under pain of death. Some of the King's wives were bound and burned with burning oil and subjected to other cruelty, while naked women were thrown into the cages
of wild beasts, where they were devoured before the eyes of the King.

The Old Reliable Jewelry House

of Hopkinsville is, after all, the best place to get anything in the Jewelry line. There's a record behind us, a record of over thirty years; a clean record of satisfied customers, a record of honest dealing, for honest quality, honest prices. It's a record any Jeweler might feel proud of. And when we sell an article we have in mind that we have a record to maintain, and no slipshod methods, no careless workmanship, no lack of quality, is ever allowed to mar the record of the past. But to improve, if possible, this record, is ever our aim, and goods are sold for as low a price as it is possible to sell reliable goods.

It will pay you in the end to deal with the Old Reliable Jeweler.

The Coming Presbyterian Synods.

Mr. Editor:

I want to thank you for the full and complete notice in the Kentuckian of October 23, of the meetings of the two Presbyterian synods to be held in our city on next Tuesday. It is always very pleasant to a local pastor when the city press recognizes the importance and dignity of such religious gatherings in our midst. The only correction I would make at all in the notices of Tuesday last, is one which I am sure every kindhearted reader of your paper has already made, and that is with reference to the statement made by Mr. Williams, that "the present pastor, session and trustees of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Hopkinsville refuse to permit the synod to hold the sessions in that church." This is very evidently a mistake, for the Cumberland Presbyterians never refuse their buildings to any evangelical denomination. And then, too, the Presbyterian synod never asked its officers for the use of their house; and why should they? They have a beautiful church of their own not a block away, and on the same street. Mr. Williams has made a mistake, or he has been unfortunately reported. I make this correction in simple justice to both churches. I trust that both bodies will have harmonious sessions. Our Cumberland Presbyterian synod bids fair to be the largest in the history of the church. Thanking you for this and other favors, I am, yours very sincerely,
A. C. BIDDLE, Pastor.

A SAM JONES STORY.

How He Compromised With His Wife the Morning After Marriage.

The best of all stories ever told by Sam Jones was that which brought him to a clear understanding with his wife the morning after they were married. He told it in a sermon, off-hand, and had every eye in the congregation moist. There had been a good deal of strife in some households, spats between husbands and wives, separations, divorces and other troubles. Sam said:

"I'm goin' to try to stop it. It's all nonsense. Maybe I can't get at you old fellows who have been nagging at your wives for many years, and been nagged back till you lost your manhood; but I'm goin' to say something for the young married folks and those who contemplate matrimony.

"You all recollect when me and Mrs. Jones got married. Most of you veterans were there that night, and ate of the wedding supper. We all had a good time. We stayed up late. The young folks danced and we looked on. By and by the midnight hour sent you all home, and Mrs. Jones and I went to bed. When I woke up next morning there she was sleeping like an angel alongside of me. She was beautiful to look upon as you all know. She's beautiful yet, God bless her. Beautiful in her love for me and our children, beautiful in her domesticity, beautiful in character. To have such a wife is the pinnacle of hope, the summit of happiness. To think of her is to praise God.

"I awoke her with a kiss and said: 'Mary, what is all that white stuff on the rocking chair? I never saw it before.'"

"Why, Sam, it's my clothes," she replied, with a lovely blush. Then I pointed to another chair and said: 'And Mary, what are those things? They have a familiar look.' She answered:

"Why, Sam, dear, those are your breeches. Why do you ask such silly questions?"
"Because, Mary, I want to have a plain, clear, frank understanding with you. We have agreed to travel the long road of life side by side. There will be things for you to do and things for me to do. Let us make up our minds there shall be no conflicts on the journey. There are your laces and rickrack; there are my breeches. Mary, I want to ask you which you intend to wear during our life, the laces and the rickrack, or the breeches?" She didn't hesitate a moment, but said:

"Sam, you wear the breeches; I'll stick to the laces and rickrack."

THE CAFE.

Was In Fair Way to Be Destroyed By Fire.

The Cafe was discovered to be on fire somewhere yesterday morning. Officer Miller, who was passing the establishment a little before 1 o'clock caught the smell of smoke and called to the fire department. When they reached the place, it being too early for opening up, they telephoned Mr. Burrus, one of the proprietors, to come down at once and open the house as it was on fire. He told the firemen to break open the door and that he would be there as soon as he could dress. Mr. Hugh West, the other proprietor, was in his room on Main street and did not know anything of the trouble until Mr. Burrus ran up the stairway on his way down and awoke him.

There was no damage to amount to anything, as the firemen soon put out the blaze, which was in the cellar. As to how the fire originated is a mystery. Mr. Burrus says there was not anything in the cellar except a few banana crates and some syrrups. He thinks rats got hold of matches, but it may have been set on fire. But as the outside cellar door was fastened so that no one could possibly enter, the whole thing is a mystery. Mr. West, who keeps the establishment open at night, says there was not the faintest odor of smoke when he closed at 12 o'clock.

THE NEW THEATRE.

Circulars Sent Out Calling For Stock Subscriptions.

The new theater question is still being agitated and the erection of a $40,000 house of amusement may be the outcome of the first discussion, which was held at Hotel Lathrop some weeks since.

A circular, signed by a committee of leading citizens, was mailed to people known to be favorable to the enterprise, last Tuesday.

In its circular the committee points out the great need of a modern theatre which will be the cause of our first-class amusements coming here, and calls upon the citizens to make known how much they will subscribe. From the amounts pledged on the night of the first conference the committee thinks the new playhouse is almost a certainty.

Is the Moon Inhabited?

Science has proven that the moon has an atmosphere, which makes life in some form possible on that satellite; but not for human beings, who have a hard enough time on this earth of ours, especially those who don't know that Electric Bitters cure headache, biliousness, malaria, chills and fever, jaundice, dyspepsia, dizziness, torpid liver, kidney complaints, general debility and weakness. Unequaled as a general tonic and appetizer for weak persons and especially for the aged. It induces sound sleep. Fully guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick. Price 50c.

KY. CROP REPORT.

Condition of Growing Crops, Prospects, Etc.

The month of September was very unfavorable for the preparation of ground for sowing wheat and oats, and other fall work is retarded. Heavy and continuous rains have delayed the cutting of corn, as also injuring its quality, causing it to rot to some extent. Tobacco has suffered from excessive moisture, and much of it which was housed has been damaged by house-burning, while that remaining on the scaffolds, or still uncured, reports indicate a poor quality and considerable loss in weight. In the Burley District the estimated yield compared to 1905 is 90 per cent., while the estimate of that housed to Oct. 1 is 77 per cent. of the crop. In the Dark Tobacco District the estimate of yield compared with 1905 is 80 per cent., and the figures show that the amount housed is 79 per cent. of the crop. The yield of corn over the entire State as compared with last year is very gratifying, being 107 per cent., but some of it will be inferior quality on account of lack of sunshine.

Reports indicate that the acreage of ground prepared for wheat compared with 1905 is only 85 per cent. With favorable weather from now on there is time enough to increase the sowing of this crop materially.

Fall pastures are the best known for years, and all stock is in good condition. Very little disease is reported among animals except in one or two counties, where there is some complaint of hog cholera. Mules are bringing fair prices. Sheep in good demand. Hogs are scarce.

There is a general complaint of a dearth of labor and high wages. In some localities it is almost impossible to obtain good hands at any price.

CHRISTIAN COUNTY.

Corn crop fine, but cutting has progressed slowly on account of frequent rains. Considerable wheat has been sown on ground plowed early. Some nice patches of alfalfa in this county looking splendid.

HUBERT VREELAND,
Commissioner.

TWO SYNODS.

Gathering of Ministers and Elders Here Next Tuesday.

As previously announced the sessions of the United Presbyterian and Cumberland Presbyterian churches will be held in this city, beginning next Tuesday night at 7:30.

These meetings will be open to the public, and will no doubt be largely attended. On account of the union of the two churches, which has been opposed by a large number of Cumberlandans, and the fact that this synod, which meets in the first Presbyterian church, recognizes the union as already consummated, the public will naturally expect to learn something from the proceedings of the two bodies as to what the situation is today.

One of the most important meetings will be that of the Evangelistic Committee of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., to be held in the First church on Monday night. This committee consists of Dr. J. P. Colburn, of Pittsburg, Pa.; Dr. Landreth, of Nashville; Dr. J. L. Darby, of Evansville, and Dr. Joseph W. Cochran. The committee has nothing to do with either of the synods, but has only for its object the spread of the gospel, so far as we are informed.

Human Blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant, of Bac, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhage of the lungs, and was near death, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures hemorrhages, chronic coughs, settled colds and bronchitis, and is the only known cure for weak lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by R. C. Hardwick, druggist, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Boarders Wanted.

I am prepared to receive a few more boarders. Early application will secure two large down-stairs well lighted and ventilated rooms. A few day boarders can be accommodated. Mrs. J. C. WILLIAMS, 67th St. near Sanitarium.

FOUND RELIEF BY TAKING PE-RU-NA

MRS. ANNA MUNDEN

There can be no doubt about it that the tendency to resort to surgical operations has been too great in the past and that this harmful tendency is growing less every day.

Experience has demonstrated that many ailments which seemed to require surgical operations in the past are now being cured by the use of harmless remedies. Perna has done as much as any other remedy to establish this very important fact.

Thousands of people have been condemned to undergo surgical operations. Their physicians have told them that they must either submit to such operations or lose their lives.

After this they have resorted to Perna and found relief. Other good remedies have accomplished the same result, but it is safe to assume that no other remedy has equalled Perna in its beneficent work. Many of the alleged incurable derangements of the pelvis are dependent upon catarrh.

There is no cure for these except the removal of the catarrh. Perna seemingly works miracles in some of these cases. The explanation, however, is very simple. Perna removes the catarrh and Nature does the rest.

Suffered Thirteen Years With Pelvic Troubles. Unable to Find Relief.

AN OPERATION ADVOCATED.

Pe-ru-na, Taken as a Last Resort, Brings Health and Strength.

ANNA MUNDEN, Brinkley, Ark., writes: "I suffered with female troubles for thirteen years, and tried the best doctors in Louisville, Ky., without relief. I spent thousands of dollars at the Springs.

"The doctors desired that I have an operation performed to remove my ovaries, which I would not consent to. I saw an advertisement of your Perna and thought I would try it. Before I had taken it all I could get out of bed and walk about.

"After taking three bottles I was as well and hearty as ever. I gained in flesh. From 118 I increased to 180 pounds.

"If it had not been for your great and wonderful medicine, I would now be in my grave.

"I would advise all women suffering to try it."

"It would not be without it for the world."

A WOMAN'S LETTER TO WOMEN.

Mrs. Caroline Kramer, Fort Collins, Col., writes:

"The majority of women who are suffering from disordered periods and other troubles, have such strong faith in doctors that they allow them to experiment on them for kidney, liver, or stomach trouble, and when they become discouraged and their money is gone."

"I was my unfortunate experience for nearly two years, when my attention was called to Perna, but at last I had found the right medicine, but as I kept on using it and was finally cured I could only thank God and take courage."

"I have had most satisfying results from the use of your medicine and have SATISFACTORY RESULTS FROM women who were suffering with woman's ills to use Perna and let the doctors alone, and those who have followed my advice are better today and many are fully restored to health."

A Kentuckian in Florida.

Dade City, Fla., Oct. 21.

Editor Kentuckian:

To those of your readers who contemplate visiting Florida this winter, I urge that they come by the 20th of November, as our State fair commences at Tampa on the 11th and lasts until the 29th of November. There will be $20,000 given in premiums and it will be a source of surprise at the amount of the displays and the varieties of products. The railroads have given a $20 round-trip rate from St. Louis and all points on the Ohio river. The country is prosperous and many people that come South this year may make it their permanent home.

Proper Dresses for Girls, Misses and Grown-Ups

Designs for Dresses for Seven and Seventeen.

With the coming of cooler days one must pick the dresses which will be in harmony with the change, and nothing is finer than the little smocked frocks of alpaca for young girls. They not only can be worn for the end of the summer season, but later on for school. Alpaca is also much to be commended for the making of dresses for misses' wear, as they are not only serviceable but smart. In fact, it will be distinctly wise if for the majority of the young folks' new gowns, the chosen materials are alpaca, covert coating, serge or voile,
as then they will do good service right up to the time when winter fashions
and furs become a necessity.

With the younger girls it is coming more and more to be the custom to wear the lighter, washable materials
all the year, the needed warmth being supplied by the extra flannel undergarments. And the dress of decortive design is just as necessary for the seven-year-old as for the 17-year-old miss. But for both the choice may well fall upon white muslin or fine pleated material with the broad anglaise, which as it manages to combine daintiness and durability in the most satisfactory fashion, is likely to go on enjoying the favor of fashion and her followers for many a long day to come. In the case of the little damsel of seven, the design of the sketch may be followed to advantage,
the broderie which forms that very effective plastron and panel being outlined with little fitted frillings of the muslin, while a folded belt of soft blush rose pink satin may be passed underneath, so that it may give a fascinating suggestion of its presence through the semi-transparency of the broderie in front, though it comes into fuller prominence at the sides.

Sweet 17, in her turn, might really with just a few modifications, adapt the same design to her own use, the broderie panel being, of course, in her case, so graduated as to taper at the waist and widen out again at the skirt; while a transparent yoke and color band of Valenciennes lace and a foam of frills in the same soft lace
as a finish to the elbow sleeves, may also be suggested, while furthermore it would be advisable and distinctly decorative—to outline the broderie

with ruffled frillings of Valenciennes.

For a dress for cooler days one of the fashionably checked voiles may be made up into the faithful likeness of the one shown in our sketch, sapphire blue, with a contrast on the bodice of black and white, and the softening finish of some ivory-toned lace being one of the most effective color schemes. Or, if made in a fine summer cloth in black and white check, it could be worn right on into October,
and in this case the waistcoat fronts
could introduce some touch of color
—not, for example, would look specially well with borderings of black and white.

For the grown-ups already the prettiest of frouded dresses are being made up, to serve a double purpose—that of finishing out the outdoor season,
when it is possible to wander around minus a wrap of any description, and an event more important one of being used for a house dress.

Paris has openly declared her belief in foulards—but they are always the new foulards, which have come under the chiffon influence and find themselves as soft and supple, and almost as rich in a way as liberty satins.

Only the simpler sort of house gowns can be made of them, but they are stunning. Red foulards, sprinkled all over with tiny white dots, are made up in fascinating ways that show skirts shirred on cords, unique platings and tucks and plain shir-rings without number. Of course, there is trimming, and it is usually
of a lingerie type—a sheer white yoke,
perhaps with undersleeves to match,
or at least with some sort of a frill
or of an elbow cuff to match.

Like crepe de chine, a foulard doesn't require a silk lining, which makes it appeal even more strongly to the majority of women.

The combination of dotted foulard
with a plain foulard of the same shade
is most effective of all when it is carried out in a new blue, lighter than the usual shades, as soft, in its way,
as is old blue, yet a much stronger shade and one that utterly lacks the peculiar milky tone that characterizes old blue.

A Short Chapter on Hats for Fall Wear

"What will Mr. Lady's fall hat be made of, made of."
What will Mr. Lady's fall hat be made of,
Plumes and wings, and ribbons galore,
And that's what Mr. Lady's hat will be made of."

It will, of course, cost a pretty sunny, but then, getting ready for the woman is buying a bonnet she doesn't count the cost until after the bill comes in and then with sweetest reason she lets dear hubby do the worrying.

A point of special note in reference to the new millinery is the extreme length of the plumes seen on many of the dressier styles of hats. Some are almost two feet in length and made to look longer by the manner in which they are placed on the hat.
Instead of being curled around the latter, they are put on almost straight, thus showing off to full length. Some are ostrich, although fancy effects are seen.

As to colors, white and black will be strong factors in the situation, but the other shades will not be neglected.
Brown in the entire range will be used,
white green and blue effects will be seen, also certain shades of red, particularly of the raspberry order. A new shade also will be introduced,
known as princess blue, which is similar to royal although a trifle sayer.

Ribbons will be much in evidence,
and solid color effects in lighter shades on the body of the hat will be particularly good in soft, lustrous weaves, while many prints in light or dark will be used for very dressy hats.
These ribbons will be manipulated in a variety of different forms, such as the bow in double, triple and even quadruple for matrons, while choux and rosette ideas will be seen among various other forms.

Flowers will not be forgotten, the natural effects not being so much sought after as the large silk and velvet roses which are very beautiful and ornamental. These will be seen as a sole adornment, and also in combination with feathers and plumes.

Feet, especially the fringe, will make a strong hit for popularity, and the natural ostrich will prevail, while holmes will be very little in evidence.

crests are laughing,
A tryst in the cove, waits my sweetheart for me!

The zephyrs are blowing her hair into
The sea reaches out a most covetous
And falling to grasp her, discourses in waves—
In fury subsides to a watery grave.
Her cheeks are aglow at the sea's savor
swooning,
Her eyes are as bright as the violet
blue,
Her lips—Ah, her lips, they were made
for my sighing—
Are sweet with a nectar of love that is true,
Her lips—Ah, one Cupid, the racial, is brewing
A kiss on those lips that is not meant
for you!

Ah, maid of my heart, thou art twin
of my dreaming,
Art thou the queen I have seen in
the night,
And sometimes I tremble lest thou art
the night,
A maiden of dreams by a dreamer
tossing,
I question my sense and I question my feeling,
Is there in God so much kinder to me,
To me, most unworthy, a common-lay
being,
To place in my keeping a fellow like
thee?
And sometimes I tremble lest thou shalt
be feeling,
In the mist of the mist of the sea!

And now thou art flesh in my arms and the breezes
Art blowing the tangles of hair on my forehead,
Blow on, O thou wind, if thy humor it
be,
Blow hard from the realms of thy uttermost peak—
For the mist is no phantom of dreaming—
For my lips and my lips are apulse with her love,
One cannot mistake such a Heaven for a seeming
Or question such gift from the Great God above.

* * *

Ah, maid of my heart, thou art twin
of my dreaming,
Always the queen I have seen in the mist—
No longer I tremble lest thou be but
a dream,
A maiden of flesh by her lover is kissed!
Her eyes they are shy but with constancy
beaming,
Her lips, nectared lips, are a-tremble
with sighing,
For one Danny Cupid, the racial, by scheming,
Has fixed up a wedding for next Christmas night!

A KENTUCKY HERO.

Risked His Life to Save His Hated Enemy.

The recent award of a silver medal and $1,500 by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission to Capt. Rufus K. Combs, of Midway, brings before the public a story of splendid heroism. Capt. Combs at the imminent risk of his own life, saved the life of his most ardently hated enemy, Richard Godson. Both men live at Midway, and for many years were personally and politically antagonistic. On April 2, 1906, Godson was overcome by gas in a vault. A crowd collected, but there was no one on the scene with courage to attempt a rescue. Combs, who has a blacksmith shop 600 yards from the vault, saw that something was wrong, and, though lame, ran to the vault. Winded and weary from his exertion, he looked down and saw the prostrate form of Godson. Without hesitating he dropped through the manhole. Three times he lifted the limp body before it was grasped by those above. Combs then fainted and was pulled out. Combs is quoted as saying he saved Godson's life because he admired a "hard fighter."

BUSINESS GROWING.

Planters Bank & Trust Co. Spreading Itself.

It is most gratifying to note the increase in business of the Planters Bank & Trust Co. So steadily has it grown that in order to meet the demands it has recently had to increase its capital stock. The trust department has reached the point where the entire attention of a man has become absolutely necessary. At a recent meeting the stockholders selected Mr. T. J. McKeynolds for the position. Mr. McKeynolds is second vice-president and has entered upon his duties. He brings to the bank the experience of several years in a similar position in Decatur, Illinois, and is therefore thoroughly competent in every way for the responsibilities that rest upon him.

HELP CENSUS TAKER.

Directory Man Says Many People Are Slow to Answer.

Mr. Thornton, who is compiling our city directory, says:

Mr. Meacham:—
I am doing all I possibly can to make your directory of Hopkinsville accurate and complete, even to the extent of doing all the hard work myself and trusting no one to assist in taking census, but find it difficult to get names, etc., correctly given at many places. This is especially true of boarding houses, and houses where they evidently do not want to be known as keeping boarders. Can you not get the people to assist in this by leaving their full names, etc., at their rooming or boarding places.

Respectfully,
TOLES THORNTON.

We hope the public will lend a friendly co-operation, as a new directory is greatly needed for Greater Hopkinsville.

When everything seems up a stump,
And fortune is "agin" you,
Don't pine. Spruce up—show the world
You've got the timber in you.

Andrew Carnegie, Rockefeller, the Vanderbilts and Russell Sage saved a part of their income and put it away in the bank. When the time came for them to make investments they had something saved up. Money rules the world. Without money you are without friends. Open an account to-day.
